Healthy group launch
Newham Council is hosting an event on Wednesday 3 July to formally launch Healthwatch Newham, a new organisation for people living and working in the borough to have their say on health and social care issues.

The event at Stratford Circus, Theatre Square, E15, runs from 11am-2.30pm. It also celebrates the first anniversary of Newham's Co-Production Forum, where people play an active role in developing support services for adults.

For more information call Selma Ghouse on 020 3373 8563 or email selma.ghouse@newham.gov.uk

Dreaming of space
British space scientist Maggie Adern-Pocock MBE is the final speaker in this year's Ideas Olympiad free lectures and talks.

Maggie will be at The Crystal, One Siemens Brothers Way, Royal Victoria Dock, E16, on Thursday 27 June at 6.30pm to talk about how she turned her childhood dreams of being a space scientist into reality. To book your free ticket visit www.newham.gov.uk/IdeasOlympiad

Can you dig it?
Do you fancy exercising your green fingers? If so, then drop into the Dig It gardening event in the community garden at Jack Cornwell Community Centre, Jack Cornwell Street, E12 on Monday 24 June from 10.30am-2pm.

The free event gives you the chance to get involved with the garden, make friends and get free seeds for your garden. There are also free refreshments.

For information call 020 3373 2879.

A tidy effort by pupils

East Ham South ward councillors Lakmini Shah and Quintin Peppiatt joined youngsters and parents from Brampton Primary School for a clean-up of the area outside their school.

It was part of a wider campaign across East Ham that also involved cleansing staff, volunteers, residents and community groups. The clean-up targeted dog fouling, broken glass and assorted litter including fast food waste.

Those taking part identified homes with mattresses, sofas, wardrobes and old window panes in front gardens and then leafleted them with details of the council's free bulky waste collection service.

Cllr Shah said: "People deserve to have a tidy neighbourhood. The pupils and everyone who took part worked very hard and we thank them."

Clean-ups take place on the first Wednesday of the month. The next one is on 3 July from 9.30-11am. People can gather at Brampton Primary School or outside Newham Town Hall. Call 020 3373 0304 for details.

Judge rules on betting shop case

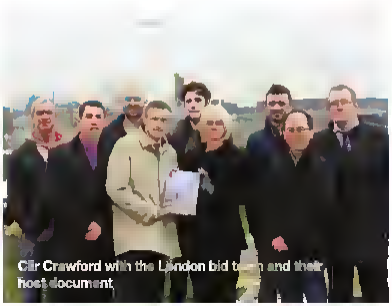
A judge has overturned a decision by Newham Council that prevented the opening of a new Paddy Power betting shop in Green Street, Upton Park.

The betting industry had been awaiting the decision at Thames Court as a test case over the amount of business done in bookies on gaming machines.

The council rejected an operator's licence for the Paddy Power premises in February on the grounds it would attract crime and anti-social behaviour and because the primary profits would come from fixed odds betting terminals. Paddy Power appealed the decision.

Councillor Ian Corbett, executive member for environment, said: "We are disappointed and will decide what we do next. The law needs to be changed so that our residents do not have to suffer anti-social behaviour connected to betting shops."

Boost for Gay Games



Cllr Crawford with the London bid team and their host document

London's bid – backed by Newham Council – to host the 2018 Gay Games has been boosted with confirmation that it has been shortlisted for the final round of selection.

Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park in Stratford would host the multi-sport event, which welcomes thousands of athletes from around the world. The London bid team will present to inspectors from the Gay Games organisers in July. The cities shortlisted alongside London are Paris and Limerick.

Councillor Neil Wilson, executive member for equalities and social inclusion, said: "Just as the Paralympics transformed attitudes towards people with physical impairment, hosting the Gay Games will encourage respect and tolerance for others."

Stratford and New Town ward councillor Richard Crawford said: "This is an amazing opportunity to celebrate diversity and change perceptions."

Pulling plug on threat of violence

Newham Council is taking the fight against violent crime online in a bid to protect vulnerable young people.

The council's enforcement team has targeted videos posted on social media websites in a bid to reduce youth-on-youth violence. The Home Office and Metropolitan Police have praised the work.

The videos targeted use violent threats to intimidate others, which can result in personal attacks. One clip highlighted by the council resulted in a young resident being stabbed.

Since January 2012, more than 500 clips have been examined. Of these, 76 were removed because of explicit use of threats.

Mayor Sir Robin Wales said: "It's important young people don't get the idea that gangs are things you should join. When people make these videos the motive is to glamorise gangs. Starving them of publicity is the right thing to do."

Berth is fit for a Prince

Newham's Deputy Mayor Councillor Lester Hudson joined The Duke of Edinburgh Prince Philip at the unveiling of a plaque marking the new permanent home in the Royal Docks of one of the world's oldest steamships.

Royal Victoria Dock, where SS Robin is based, is just a mile from where she was built in 1890 at the Thames Ironworks Shipyard on the River Lea.

The Duke has been instrumental in trying to preserve the SS Robin for future generations since the 1970s. His visit marked the start of the final phase of a five-year restoration worth £3m, supported by the Heritage Lottery Fund. It will open to the public next year.

Cllr Hudson said: "Newham Council is proud to back the restoration of the SS Robin. The permanent mooring of this iconic ship in the Royal Docks adds another exciting dimension to the transformation of Newham."

Hard work is worth it

The recent visits to Newham by two of the country's most senior politicians has underlined the work we are doing to build a stronger, fairer and more resilient borough.

During his visit to the council's offices at Newham Dockside, Ed Miliband, Leader of the Opposition, applauded our commitment to getting local people into work.

Whether you support his politics or not, his pledge to reduce the social security bill by getting people into work makes sense.

The dignity of work – essential to economic resilience – is missing for so many in our society. Current economic policy is providing too few jobs, as many Newham residents know only too well. And for others, life can be dominated by long hours in insecure work for little reward and little recognition.

We're taking action to deal with those problems. Our employment service, Workplace, has got more than 17,500 people into sustainable jobs since it started, and this year will do the same for another 5,000 people, offering a hand up to those residents who are locked out of the labour market.

That is why we will continue to invest in Workplace. And that's why we have partnered with local businesses to form Skills Place – to ensure job opportunities become sustainable, rewarding careers.

We know we can innovate locally to improve people's lives. That's what Shadow Housing Minister Jack Dromey saw in our enforcement activity that is targeting poor conditions in the private rented sector.

We went together on a joint operation in Forest Gate between the council, Metropolitan Police and UK Border Agency, which resulted in a number of landlords who had not licensed their properties being threatened with prosecution.

We won't tolerate slum conditions for any of our residents, or the blight of anti-social behaviour they can bring. That's why we have worked hard to become the first council in the country to bring in borough-wide licensing for the private rented sector.

So far 30,000 applications for property licences have been made by Newham landlords. I am pleased our work to improve conditions is being recognised.

Mayor's view

Prescription for good health

We all know Newham has big health challenges, and life expectancy here is among the worst in London. This is something we are doing everything we can to address.

Firstly, it's about tackling head-on those wider issues that affect people's health, such as bad housing and unemployment. You can see evidence of how we are doing that on the opposite page. Bad homes and no work can lead to bad health.

However I believe Newham is being unfairly penalised. We have suffered one of the biggest central government grant cuts of any council in the country. It's also outrageous and grossly unfair that some of the richest local authorities have the highest health allocations. We want the government to reverse this.

The recent transfer of public health responsibilities and funding to councils, however, is welcome. This will make it easier for us to intervene earlier and prevent illnesses that lead to shorter lives.

Secondly, there are specific steps we are already taking which include:

- free school meals – Newham's pioneering scheme offers free, healthy school meals for all our primary school children
- smoking – our stop smoking service provides support through hospital and community sites including GP-based advisers. Some 2,142 people were helped to stop smoking in 2012/13 out of 4,120 seen – a success rate of about 50 per cent (compared with a national average of about 40 per cent), the ninth year we have met targets
- bowel screening – Newham's uptake for the period January to September 2012 was 38 per cent, an increase of 4 per cent from the previous year
- NHS health check – this programme identifies people who are at risk of developing preventable illnesses like heart disease, stroke, diabetes or kidney problems, and helps them to avoid or delay these conditions. In Newham, most of these checks are provided by the GP practices. The programme started here in 2008 and since then 47,582 people have been checked.

We now have a significant opportunity to make public health work and make a real difference to residents' lives.

Go For It grants

If you want to make a real difference to your area then we can help

Go For It grants allow you to set up an ongoing project that inspires residents to get involved and is open to everyone in the community

Go For It grants are given to projects that can continue independently after initial set up costs For example, there could be an overgrown space close to where you live that you'd like to convert into a growing space Once you have purchased the tools and equipment needed to transform the site, volunteers can help maintain the area

Go For it funding has previously been granted for:

- dance activities
- gardening projects
- sports tournaments
- children's activities
- community choirs
- projects that promote healthier lifestyles.

You might have talent for flower arranging or a flair for cake decoration. Pass on your passion to others by applying for a Go For It grant and share your skills with the community.

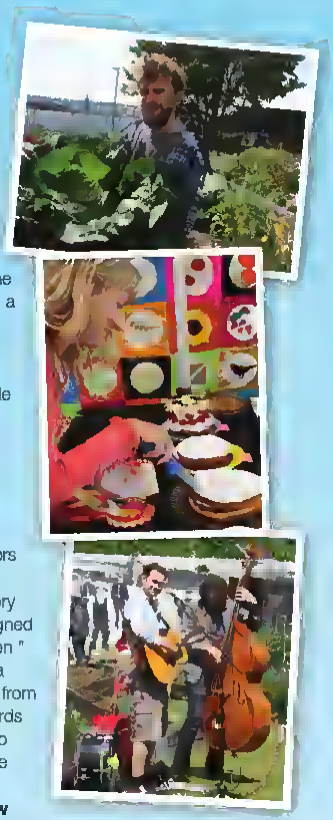
Friends of Abbey Gardens get the party started



Friends of Abbey Gardens is a group of residents from Stratford who have turned a disused space into a community garden and open space for all to enjoy. They applied for a Let's Get the Party Started grant to support their fabulous Vintage Summer Party.

With tiny top hats and bonnet making workshops for children and music in the eco shed, this open to all event saw more than 200 people come together to find out more about the garden and enjoy a free great day out.

Making the most of the resources to hand and relying on the goodwill of volunteers, the Friends held plant history tours led by their garden club leader while historians shared more about the heritage of the site which still houses the ruins of a 12th Century abbey.

Volunteer Lydia Thornley said "We've found that many of our volunteers first found out about the garden by attending one of our events.

"Each time we hold an event we choose a theme which encourages new, visitors as well as regular visitors to the space.

"For our Vintage Summer Party we picked a history theme. We wanted to broaden our appeal and designed activities to invite neighbours of all ages to the garden."

Alongside a competition to judge the best Victoria sponge, lunch was on offer and there were goodies from the garden on sale. The money raised all goes towards the maintenance of the garden and means the group can continue to develop the site for the benefit of the whole community.

Sky's the limit at Workplace

Chance encounters can sometimes change your life. That's what Adrian Mosneag discovered when he flew into Workplace.

The former restaurant and hospitality supervisor from Upton Park was looking for a career change but could never imagine that with help from Workplace, the council's job brokerage service, he would literally scale new heights.

Thanks to Workplace, Adrian secured a job on one of London's most iconic experiences right here in Newham, the Emirates Air Line – London's only cable car – starting off as a host.

Adrian said: "There are some things in life that happen by coincidence. I was out shopping and walked past Workplace. I thought I'd pop in and see if they could help me.

"I was working, but after three years in my previous role I wanted to use my supervisory and management skills to get a job in another sector."

Workplace wasn't Adrian's only port of call. He said: "I joined quite a few recruitment agencies and was very selective about what I wanted to do. These agencies were mostly online. With Workplace there was face-to-face contact and because it is a council service they don't charge any fees or take any commission."

Adrian cites his Workplace advisor as integral to getting his job, saying: "I had a CV but my advisor adjusted it for me and showed me how to tailor my covering letters. Something changed and soon after that I started to receive answers from my applications and invitations to job interviews."

Fluent in English, Italian and Romanian means that Adrian is ideally suited to welcome the world. Soon after he secured his job at the Emirates Air Line his career soared even higher and he successfully applied for his current team leader role. His highlight so far has been "the extraordinary Olympic and Paralympic Games". Adrian describes this time as "exhausting and wonderful. I met people from all over the world. In a word, it was fantastic."

It's almost a year on from the opening of the Emirates Air Line but Workplace isn't a distant memory for Adrian. He keeps in touch with his advisor and has no hesitation in recommending Workplace and the service he received there. He said: "There's a saying that the best things in life are free and in the case of Workplace that's quite right."

Want Workplace to work for you?

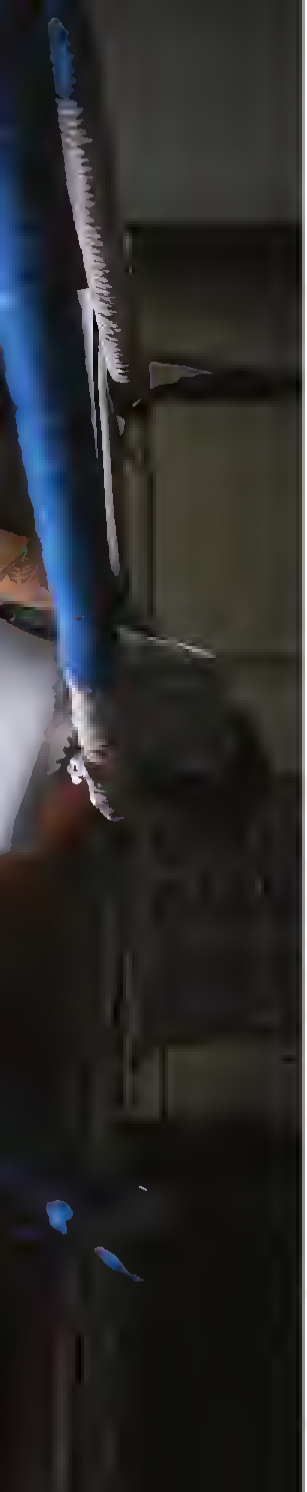
Macho man boxes clever



Wadi Comacho, 27, is a boxer from Canning Town, who fights out of Trad TKO, E16, one of the last 'old school' professional boxing gyms in London. His recent victory at the Prizefigher tournament now makes him the UK's fourth best in his weight and a contender for the British title belt.

Wadi, aka the Macho Man, has done well in the short time he been professional. After winning his first six fights, he suffered a defeat but undeterred he switched trainer and went back to work.

In the recent Prizefighter tournament at York Hall, Bethnal Green, he beat contenders in an elimination contest, getting better with each fight. He finished in style with a knockout in the second round of the final to take £34,000 in prize money.

Wadi moved to Canning Town when he was six years old. The former Rokeby School student is the only boy in his family.

He says: "I've got six beautiful sisters and I'm the baby of the bunch. I think my mother must have kept trying for a boy until I was born.

"When I was young I was a naughty little kid, but now I'm more mature, I'm a family person. I'm round my sisters' all the time. I enjoy their company, especially spending time with my nieces and nephews."

Wadi has got a lot of options now. He's a charismatic guy and he's got a loyal following. He says that he is the fighter that other fighters need to watch out for.

How did you get into boxing?

I was into football and basketball, but I still had a lot of energy and didn't know how to release it. Then a good friend, Gary Delaney, brought me to try out boxing and I found a sport that was nice, disciplined and focussed. I trained at the Peacock Gym in Canning Town and then the TKO. It all started from there.

Do your family come to ringside and support you?

Definitely. They make more noise than anyone else, especially my mum. At my fight in March I got a couple of cuts from a head collision and my mum was upset. So for Prizefighter I sent her on holiday to Spain to relax. After the fight I gave her a call and the first thing that came out of her mouth was: 'Do you have any cuts?' So I said: 'No, I just got a little dash under the eye'. Now she can come back and cheer with my sisters.

How hard do you train?

I train extremely hard. My new trainer Don Charles knows how hungry I am. He gave me a six-and-a-half week training programme for the Prizefighter. The Prizefighter is hard earned. You've got to fight three different fighters with three different styles and the best man wins. I showed by far that I was the best man that night.

I have all sorts of moves. I'm a big Cruiserweight, but I throw shots like a Middleweight or Lightweight. I'm an awkward customer. Everyone knows I'm a southpaw (left-hander), but that's just one of the ways that I'm awkward.

Who do you want to fight?

Whoever has the titles. Matty Askin for the English, John Lewis Dickinson for the British. They need to look out for me. They're not going to be holding those titles shortly. 2013 is my year. Wherever it is, whoever the opponent, I'm cool, I'm calm, and as soon as the bell rings I just do the business.

Trad TKO gym has two amateur boxing clubs (ABC) for young people:

- Trad TKO ABC run by Terry Eames
- Omnibus Kids Gloves run by Tony Cesay

Young people interested in trying boxing should drop in at the Trad TKO Gym, Stephenson Street, E16, weekdays after 5.30pm and ask for Terry or Tony.

For more information on the general boxing and fitness classes run by Trad TKO call 020 7474 3199 or visit www.tkoboxinggym.com

Other boxing clubs are listed on page 36.

The main stage will welcome Newham's finest talent and showcase music made for moving, from salsa to soul and rock to reggae

SUPER SATURDAY

Children's television rapping sensations Sid Sloane and Andy Day kick off the weekend at 12.30pm, beat-boxing their way through their catchy 'number raps'. They will be followed by J's Dance Factory who will wow you with their contemporary takes on ballet, Bollywood and street dance.

Saturday ends with a bang as Candy Apple Blue encourage you to shake your groove thing as they delight you with classic hits including rock, pop, Motown, R'n'B and soul

SUPERB SUNDAY

Come and see the stars of the small screen grace the big stage at 12.30pm. The ZingZillas, Zak, Tang, Panzee and Drum, will bring their magical, toe-tapping sounds to Newham and get tiny tots moving.

Deborah Day Theatre School students will display their array of talents before the hotly anticipated Time to Shine grand talent final begins. This year's finalists include dancers, singers and magicians.

Sunday swings to a close with the infectious Latin American grooves of Newham's own Luis Lema Latinissimo Salsa Band, who will bring the sounds of South America to Central Park

Family entertainment stage

A show first for this year, as well as The ZingZillas and number rappers Sid Sloane and Andy Day, the family entertainment stage will feature

- Entertainment from Mr Mojo (children's party entertainer) who will be bringing madcap fun and games and dancing to the stage
- the Cosmic Sausages – four colourful musicians – will entertain you with their own version of pop classic songs and dance
- the Aveley and Newham Brass Band who will perform classical tracks and surprise you with their modern day twists
- Every Child a Musician (ECaM) participants who will showcase what they have learned with performances by Manor Park's St Winefride's Roman Catholic Primary School and Beckton's Gallions Primary School

Plant sale

Make your garden beautiful in time for summer and pick up some bargains at the East Ham Allotment sale on Saturday 29 and Sunday 30 June.

From 10am-4pm at the allotments on Folkestone Road, E6, beside the council depot, you can buy an array of vegetables, flowers, herbs and honey at affordable prices and pick up growing tips from allotment experts.

Plant prices start from 30p. Wooden planters and trellis will also be on sale.

The bee viewing shed will also be open for you to see bees at work. All are welcome.

Make music and crafts

Do you fancy learning the basics of guitar playing or making your own crafty creations? You can do all this and more at the Garden Community Café, 7 Cundy Road, E16.

Every Friday from 3.30-5.30pm you can drop in and learn to play the guitar individually or as part of a group in these open to all sessions. You could also perform at one of the regular gig nights.

On Wednesdays from 4-5pm join the Craft Club for seven to 14-year-olds where you can make your own creations, cook, build shelters and play.

If you are interested in taking part, call 020 7474 5257.

Don't let your children's health go up in smoke

Did you know that secondhand smoke can put children at risk of bronchitis, asthma attacks, meningitis, ear infections and cot death? Or that more than 80 per cent of secondhand smoke is invisible and has no smell?

We all know that the best thing would be to stop smoking but not everyone wants to. To protect children it is best to keep smoking completely outside of the home and car.

The following children's centres are holding events to provide advice and guidance about how smokers can make their homes and cars smokefree.

- Thursday 4 July, 9.30-10.30am, Oliver Thomas, Mathews Avenue, E6
- Friday 12 July, 9.30am-12noon, Canberra, 1 Didsbury Close, E6
- Friday 12 July, 2-4pm, Shrewsbury, 2 Shrewsbury Road, E7
- Monday 15 July, 9am-12noon, Plaistow, Junction Road, E13
- Wednesday 17 July, 9am-12noon, Keir Hardie, Edwin St, E16
- Friday 19 July, 9.30-11.30am, Abbey Lane, 1 Abbey Lane, E15.

For more information or to find out how to order a free Smokefree kit, call Newham's stop smoking service on 020 3373 6630 or visit www.newham.gov.uk/stopsmoking

Find out about electronic cigarettes

The University of East London (UEL) is holding an open public lecture to lay bare the facts about electronic cigarettes. Are they safe? Do they help people stop smoking? How do they work? Find out the answers to all your burning questions at a free lecture by Dr Lynne Dawkins.

The event takes place on Wednesday 3 July, 7-8pm at the UEL Stratford Campus, Water Lane, London, E15. Refreshments are available from 6pm. To register visit www.uel.ac.uk/ecigarettelecture

Have a look at Forest Gate

Discover more about the identity of people living and working in Forest Gate at a special exhibition at CoffeE7.

The exhibition, which runs until Saturday 20 July, features portraits and landscapes in pastel by Newham artist James Valentine.

The exhibition has been supported by Newham Council's Let's Get the Party Started funding to host free artist workshops and is inviting residents to produce drawings, paintings, prints and collages.

The workshops, which are open to all, take place on Sundays 30 June, 7 and 14 July, 3-5pm Mondays 24 June, 1, 8 and 15 July, 4-6pm.

Workshop places must be booked in advance and children aged under 12 must be accompanied by an adult.

To book your place, visit CoffeE7, 10 Sebert Road, E7, email jvalentine53@hotmail.co.uk or call 07446 951 562.

CoffeE7 is open 7.30am-6.30pm Monday to Friday, 9am-5pm on Saturdays and 10am to 4pm on Sundays.

Plaistow schools discuss legacy

Plaistow, Portway, Curwen, Southern Road and Upton Cross primary schools came together to take part in a debate about Olympic legacy.

The schools, which make up the E13 Learning Community Schools Council, quizzed Paul Brickell, executive director of regeneration and community partnerships at the London Legacy Development Corporation, about how to involve Newham schools and the wider community in the future development of the Olympic Stadium.

Key points included making the Olympic Stadium accessible to all, particularly disabled people and the local community, and the suggestion of a museum celebrating the Games. The group also discovered the range of sports events, exhibitions, community activities and music festivals planned in the Olympic Park.

Plaistow schoolchildren with Cllr Hussain (back centre)

Community lead councillor for Plaistow, Councillor Forhad Hussain said: "It's great to see that the students of the E13 Learning Community are passionate about the Olympic legacy and their community."

New for 2013

Make your own Tutti Fruity Jam

Ingredients

525g chopped pears (5 or 6 pears)
1 large orange
130g crushed pineapple
45g maraschino cherries
60ml freshly squeezed lemon juice (1½ lemons)
85g packet of powdered pectin
1kg sugar

Instructions

1. Wash, peel, core, and chop the pears
2. Peel the orange, remove the seeds, and chop the pulp
3. Put the chopped pears, orange pulp, pineapple, cherries, and lemon juice in a large saucepan. Stir in pectin. Place on a high heat and bring to a rolling boil, stirring constantly.
4. Stir in the sugar and bring back to a full rolling boil
5. Boil hard for one minute.
6. Remove from heat and skim.
7. Spoon into hot sterilized jars and seal

No ifs, no butts

Some people think that receiving an £80 fixed penalty for dropping litter or a cigarette feels like being the butt of a bad joke. The truth is no one is laughing. Littering costs the residents of Newham around £11m a year.

Clean streets are one of your top concerns and one we take seriously. In 2012/13 Newham Council issued more than 7,000 spot-fines for littering and other environmental offences.

It's not fine to ignore a fine

If an £80 fine will hit you hard the consequences of not paying can be worse. We make every effort to prosecute. You could be taken to a Magistrates' Court, where you will receive an even stiffer penalty, plus court costs and a victim surcharge.

Contact us on the number below if you can help identify any of the people pictured, who are wanted for a range of environmental crimes.

Ensuring your anonymity

Newham Council is committed to tackling crime and anti-social behaviour in partnership with the police and other agencies. If you provide information regarding identities...

- you will not be required to provide your name
- you will not be required to leave your contact details
- you will not have to make a statement.

The Pains of a Refugee

You'd never understand the times that I've had,
The pain; the depression; the loss of my dad.
He looked after me and my mum too,
Back in the day when the skies were all blue.

We lived in a war zone,
Shots were blown.
True colours were shown,
No place to call home.
But it was our own.

As soon as we witnessed the death of my dad,
Mum and I knew this place was too bad.
We made our escape; in the end I was glad,
'Cause now I've got things that my parents never had.

Freedom and safety and all of my rights,
Thanks to refuge my future is bright.
In my new school I can finally show,
There are so many places to which I could go.

Be nice to those that don't have much,
'Cause one day they'll be impossible to touch.
A doctor, a lawyer, a CEO,
Give us a chance and potential will show.

You think the population's growing too fast?
If you look close we've had a deep dark past,
Wars, death and discrimination,
In our new lives we're faced with fascination.

Brand new things that we've never ever had,
Feelings that I only felt with my dad.
So global citizens respect us please,
'Cause now you know the pains of a REF-U-GEE!

Tia Grant, 12
